

LE SOUFFLE
d'ADORÉ

GANEA GROUP®

Origins

Our beehives are resting among beautiful mountain chains, plain fields, away from industrial turmoil, among running mountain waters and flower plains.

Our processing plant

Our honey processing plant has state-of-the-art technology.

The main characteristics that differentiate our production system :

- De-crystallization: during this phase, the thermal transfer is combined with the mechanical filtration, for the destruction and elimination of sugar crystals present in raw honey.
- Pasteurization: We carry out a heating-maintenance-cooling cycle, achieving an optimal balance between the destruction of microorganisms and the maintenance of the organoleptic characteristics of the final product.
- Deaeration: Just before storing the honey for packaging, we subject it to a controlled vacuum, extracting the maximum percentage of air present in the honey, thus minimizing bubbles.

Our plant allows us to apply a personalized and highly precise adjustment in the treatment of honey, easily adapting to the diverse variety of raw materials. The best result is achieved only when adapting the process to the product.

Build Standards, Attitude and Future!

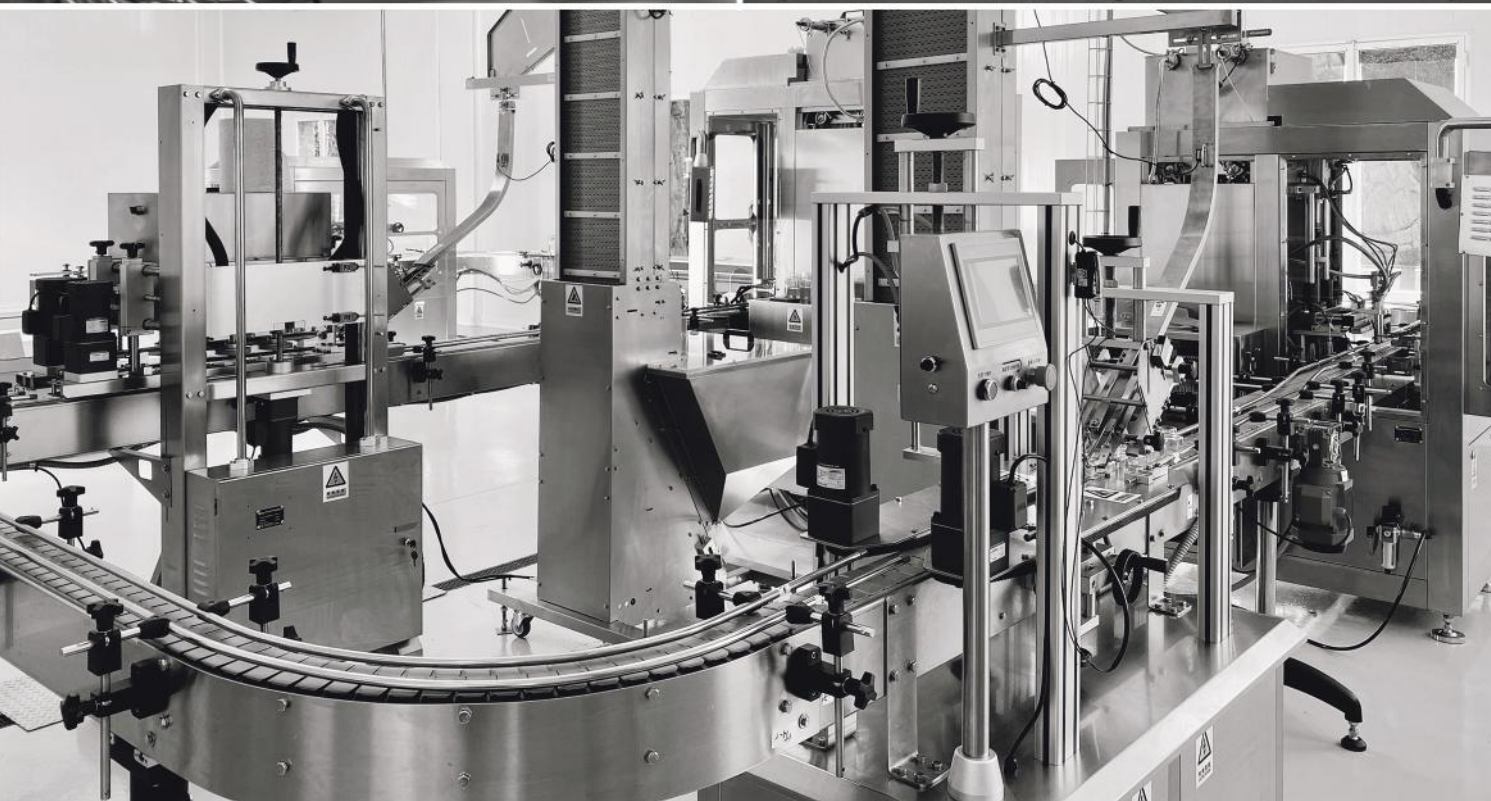

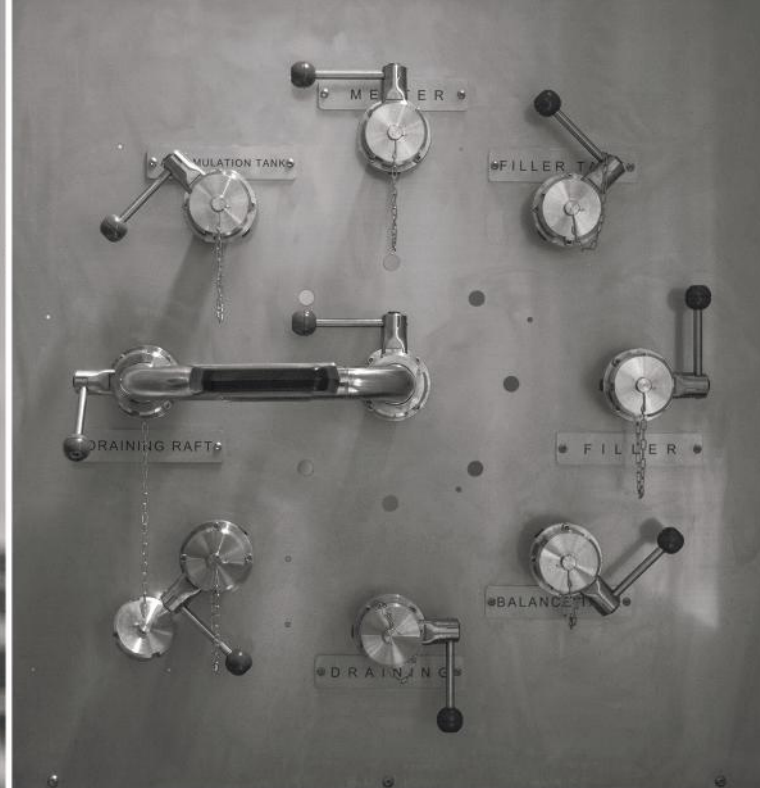

Around 30% of the global bee population are dying every year. These rates can put in danger the humankind, as bees are the most pollinator of food crops. So we dared to have a Dream: build a safe future for us and our children be farms over 1 billion bees. Build Standards, Attitude and Future!
